AIRCRAFT MAINTENANCE: POTENTIAL SHORTAGE IN NATIONAL AIRCRAFT REPAIR CAPACITY: Rced-91-14

BiblioGov. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 46 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.1in. Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO reviewed various aspects of the U. S. aircraft repair station industry, focusing on the: (1) reasons for recent increases in maintenance demand; (2) extent to which the industrys capacity is being used; and (3) factors affecting future demand for and supply of airline and independent repair station services. GAO found that: (1) airline and independent aircraft repair stations were operating near capacity and were expanding to meet new demand for repair services; (2) airlines use of independent repair stations varied, but many contracted for a large proportion of repairs and maintenance with other airlines or independent repair stations; (3) recent Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulatory changes to ensure the safety of aging aircraft greatly increased short-term demand for repair station services; (4) macroeconomic conditions, air carrier expansions, legislative and FAA regulatory changes, resource availability, cost and price changes, and other factors could affect long-term demand and supply of repair station services; and (5) airframe repair capacity may fall short of demand. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
